

RESPECT

Ourselves, our Children and our Community

Saturday, April 27, 2019

8:00 a.m. – 3:30 p.m.

Schultz Center
JACKSONVILLE, FL

As early childhood educators, we often criticize ourselves harshly while giving love and credit to others unconditionally. We deserve the same care and respect.

This conference is going to be packed with presentations from Early Childhood professionals who recognize and RESPECT the importance of our work.

Sessions will be available for Child Care Directors, Family Child Care Providers, Infant, Toddler and Preschool teachers as well as those who teach K- 3 children. Come join us and leave with new knowledge and a greater RESPECT for yourself and all the hard work all of us do for children, families and our communities every day.

Save the date!

More information
coming soon

IACET CEU's, breakfast, lunch included

FEATURING

Holly Elissa Bruno

Best-selling author, innovative radio host, and international keynote speaker

Holly Elissa Bruno's keynotes have received acclaim around the world, from New Zealand to Hungary and in 47 of the United States. Her keynotes are interactive: you will be invited to actively participate or sit back, learn and enjoy. The choice is yours. Expect to be challenged, inspired, laugh heartily and come away with practical tips on how you alone can make a difference.